Good employees are the backbone of any business. Without them, there is no way your business can succeed. However, knowing what good employee traits are is something that many businesses overlook.

4. On-time
5. Consistent
6. Excited about new projects

For others, this is more difficult.

There are even some good employee traits that may not always seem like qualities of a good employee.

- 8. Honesty is a perfect example. Good employees are honest about their issues, concerns, and struggles.
